Report

Rick Leonelli Jr.

The year of 2009 was an extremely busy year for the Crandall Public Library. It was the first full year in the newly renovated and expanded facility and we saw a tremendous increase in use by our patrons. The patron visits, circulation and the applications for new library cardholders were all up 45%. The library staff along with volunteers did an extraordinary job in keeping up with the increase in circulation which was a record of almost 770,000 items checked out of our collection. The library would never have been able to process this record number of items without the cooperation of our patrons utilizing our state-of-the-art self check system. We are now seeing 80% of the items checked out through the self check system and 100% items are checked back through the system, which gives library staff more time to provide customer service to our patrons. The next year will certainly bring challenges to the library as we remain committed to providing service to our patrons while operating a fiscally responsible library. On behalf of all the trustees, thank you for your past and future support.

Director’s Report Christine L. McDonald

On behalf of the Library Board of Trustees, the Staff and Friends of the Library, I want to extend a heartfelt thanks to the community for making 2009 the best year in the history of Crandall Public Library! Your support for the 2009 budget made it possible for us to offer a state-of-the-art building that is inviting, beautiful and functional with creative and diverse Library services and programs. What an amazing year it was! Use of the Library in 2009 far exceeded our expectations as we completed the first full year in our newly expanded and renovated space. To walk through the Library for the first time is to experience a winning combination of beauty and function. Comfortable seating, places to plug in computers, 27 Internet computers, a new Teen Center, quiet reading spaces, natural light and fireplaces. These are just a few of the features that earned the Library the New York Library Association, Public Library Section’s Outstanding Public Library Building of the Year Award. The Library also completed the process to become a LEED certified “Green” building. The award will be made in 2010.

Throughout the annual report you’ll read about the record-breaking increases in use of the Library. From a 184% increase in Internet use, 98% increase in visits to a 26% increase in programs and a 47% increase in overall circulation. This growth indicates how important it was to expand space for the needs of the community for Library services. Because of the installation of the new self check system and sorting system, no additional staff was added to the Circulation/Customer Service department.

The Library is also grateful for the support district voters gave to the 2010 budget on November 3, 2009. We appreciate the comments and suggestions from our customers because they help us make the Library a better place for everyone.

7 Wonders From a Record Setting Year!

- MOST library visits ever: 453,401, an increase of 98% over 2008

We Remember:

Richard C. Merrill 1935-2009

Dick Merrill led the community through the Library expansion and renovation project as Board President from January 2006 to December 2008. He went on to serve a trustees in 2009 until his sudden death in March 2009. A fine tribute to Dick is found in the Library’s 2009 report. He was a great friend who loved his family, the community and the Library. We still feel his loss.

Margaret D. Burrell 1922-2009

Margo had a distinguished career as an educator in many states, locally at AOC, and in area schools. She was a lover of literature, music and the arts and attended many of the Library’s programs, film and other programs which is where I first met her. She loved the Hyde Collection and the Lake George Opera. She was an avid birder and loved nature especially flowers. She was an activist when it came to preserving access to the land, risking arrest to show that her words followed with action. I often remember her visits to the Library with her late husband Harold. She was a gracious person whose life was a role model of love, action and beauty. She influenced many lives and will be remembered by us for her thoughtful action in the world.

Adult Services

2009

Some highlights from an exciting season of programming!

Head of Adult Services, Andrea Herman

Programming continued to be an important service provided to the community. The major local programs included the following:

- Jazz Dance! A multi media program exploring the history of jazz dance
- Jump Start Your Gardens presented by Kelly Mendez, Author, Anne Easter Smith discussed her new book, The King’s Grace
- Professor Louise & the Crowmatos, an ensemble from Woodstock, NY
- Homegrown String Band, family band playing rural American music
- Frank Orsini and Don Young, concert of Irish, bluegrass and country music
- Author, Jon Katz discussed his new book, Soul of a Dog
- Happy Traum, folk music
- Rick Bolton and the Dwyer Sisters, a mix of rock, folk, blues and original music
- Big Spike, traditional bluegrass music
- “An Evening with Mark Twain” performed by Dave Elliott

Many thanks to the Friends of Crandall Public Library for their generous support of Reference programs.

Each month, the Library sponsors two book discussion groups. A librarian acts as facilitator for the discussions which follow the reading of either a fiction or nonfiction work. Once a month, the Memory Sharing Group meets to share stories and memories. Computer classes were held throughout the year; the economic downturn turn created an increasing need for employment and job related information. Several programs on cover letter and resume writing were offered. Once a month Crandall Knits meets to learn and enjoy their love of knitting.

Library Outreach

Crandall Public Library’s Outreach Services offers library materials and services to help meet the information and entertainment needs of homebound individuals in a variety of settings. The Outreach Coordinator selects and delivers materials, places requests, offers reader’s advisory and research services, and maintains comprehensive reader histories. In addition, Outreach Services strives to promote and facilitate programs offered by a number of relevant agencies. These include the New York State Library for the Blind and Visually Impaired, the New York State Office for the Aging, Hospice, and the Glens Falls Lions Club.

As a rule, deliveries are made to individual homes on a monthly basis, with exceptions made for those who require more frequent delivery of materials. Monthly visits are made to group facilities. These include Adirondack Manor Adult Home, Cedars Senior Living Community, Cohoes High Rise, The Glen and Glen Terrace at Highland Meadows, The Landing of Queensbury, Middletown Apartments, Morsau Community Center, The Pines at Glen Falls, Prospect Child and Family Center, Snowdrop Manor, Solomon Heights, The Stanton Nursing and Rehabilitation Centre, Stichman Towers, Ticonderoga Health Facility, and The Willows.

Whether the setting is a private home or an institutional setting, Outreach Services takes great pride and pleasure in making the library experience available to those who are unable to visit Crandall Public Library in person.

Outreach Librarian, Frank Pelkey

The Friends of Crandall Public Library

Hard work and $35,000+ worth of generosity again defined the Friends of Crandall Public Library in 2009. Under the guidance of President Sarah Husius, Vice President Susan Brandi, Secretary Barbara McCarthy and Treasurer Mark Powers they paid for reference programming, kids tickets for the Ballet, Book Page, decorative wreaths, new library cards with a keytag combo, display cases, book bin, disk cleaner, janitorial carts, events software and even a cab for the snow blower! Profits from three book sales organized by Marilyn Gorman and Margo Hyde plus an annual appeal allowed the Friends to continue their outstanding service to the Library and its community.

Teen Services
Teen Librarian, Frida Toth
We are now on over a year of having a real Teen Center. How did we ever live without it?
We have over a thousand uses of the Teen Center every month, ranging from book clubs to live theater. We’ve done hundreds of pages of writing, field trips to sports events and pizza places, and volunteered in the community.

Children’s Services

Super services...
Head of Children’s Services, Pam Frazier

Programs
Our first full year in the renovated building was a very eventful one with 24,396 people attending children’s programs, an all-time record. Children and care givers enjoyed a variety of educational and cultural programs designed to appeal to all ages and interests. The most popular program of the year was the Summer Reading Program once again, with a total enrollment of 1,047 children, 77 teens, and 216 adults. Programs offered on an ongoing basis encompassed all ages starting with Baby Lap Times for the youngest patrons, then progressing to Walking Wonders for beginning readers, to Parent/Child Workshop and Toddler Story Times, then Preschool Story Times, and numerous programs for preschool and school classes visiting the Library. Educational programs for school-aged children were offered during the summer and school vacation weeks. One of the most popular educational programs was Reptile Adventures featuring live exhibits by Jessica Shea. This program was repeated 3 times to meet the demand. Cultural programs ranged from a concert by the Zucchini Brothers, to a dance workshop with Jennifer Stanley, The Last Dragon by the Puppet People, and even a children’s opera, Carmenella, by the Soaegl Music Colony. A new program introduced to encourage reading gave children an opportunity to read to a therapy dog. Some of the most successful programs of the year involved working with community partners. Over 300 people attended Music of the North Country, a cooperative event with the Chapman Museum that included fun activities for learning history as well as music and ice cream. We also worked with the City of Glens Falls on some special events: 218 people stopped at our table at the Downtown Balloon Festival and made miniature balloons, and over 200 people visited the Library and made an ornament as part of the Downtown Holiday Celebration. We collaborated with the Iroquois Reading Council for a program celebrating beloved Dr. Seuss on his birthday, and the Gospel Lighthouse Bookstore worked with us to show the popular Veggie Tales movies in our community room. For many years we have hosted tables at the Chronicle Book Fair and the New Teacher’s Welcome. We participated in the Nature Fest at Moreau State Park reading stories about wildlife. At the end of the school year numerous outreach programs were held at every elementary and middle school within our library district to encourage students to get library cards and make use of library services over the summer. The success of these promotions was realized here at the Library in July: to meet the demand we held 68 programs attended by 2,301 people, an average of 3 programs per day when the Library was open.

Kid’s staff answered a total of 43,904 requests for information in 2009. At the beginning of the year, patrons needed a lot of assistance finding things (continued on Page 9) in the renovated building and using the self-check system. As the year progressed and people became more familiar with the new surroundings, questions shifted to a wide range of inquiries. Staff did subject searches for teachers for materials to use in their classrooms, assisted college students taking children’s literature courses to find books in various genres, helped parents find materials on parenting topics, made recommendations on fiction books for kids to read at many different reading levels, helped with homework questions and research, and even directed new parents to board books to read with their babies and toddlers.

Computer Use
The six computers located in the Children’s Department were heavily used during the year. A total of 9,177 children signed up for 30 minute turns.

21st Century Grant
Through funding provided by a 21st Century Grant, a Community Learning Center composed of the Glens Falls City School District and its community partners including Crandall Public Library, was successfully established. Funding ended in June after benefiting many students over a four year period. The homework help has been continued by the staff of our Teen Center and expanded to include students from other school districts. The grant-funded Book Group for eight grade students, administered jointly by Crandall Public Library and the Glens Falls Middle School, has been continued and expanded to include 7th grade students through funding from the Glens Falls Middle School PTSA.

Consumer Health Information Center (CHIC)

The Consumer Health Information Center (CHIC) continues to see an increase in usage from the previous year. In 2009, the Medical Librarian prepared 1,494 information packets on a variety of health topics. Full-text journal articles were requested through DOCLINE, our automated interlibrary loan system. The CHIC website also saw an increase in traffic to 1,569 unique visitors to the site.

This year, the CHIC partnered with local MVP health educators to offer the following educational programs: Memory Enhancement, Total Recall (June); Gender Differences for Stroke (October); Nutrition Myth Busters (November); and Osteoporosis, the Silent Disease (December). A "Diabetes Drop-In" day was held in April. A health educator from the Seven County Diabetes Network provided one-on-one diabetes information for the public.

In May, the Medical Librarian coordinated a special story time with a local diettician as part of the Healthy Kids NY Library Week. The library is also pleased to be able to offer the use of our Community Room for the American Red Cross to hold blood drives.

The CHIC continues to offer a wide selection of reference books, web sites, and journals & DVDs. In addition to the databases available on the dedicated "medical computer," the Medical Librarian utilizes emerging technologies to offer accurate, relevant web-based health information.

NY State Council on the Arts 2009 Film/Video Festival

The Film/Video Festival completed its 29th year in 2009. The Electronic Media Film Program of the New York State Council on the Arts continues to provide grant funds for the program. Other support comes from the Friends of Crandall Public Library, the Experimental Television Center, the Gloria Bittman Foundation, private donations and local corporate donors: Glens Falls National Bank, Rosemary Reardon Kingsley, CPA and other donors.

Notable in 2009 was that the Film Festival opened in September prior to the regular season. We also screened: American Teen; Rachel Getting Married; Sleep Dealer; In the footsteps of Hitch; The Visitor; I'm not There; Man on Wire; The Garden; Food, Inc.; Araya; Still Walking.

In May, John Columbus, Director of the 27th Black Maria Film and Video Festival brought 12 of the latest cutting-edge films from the competition, including American independents, documentary, animation, narrative and experimental works. In addition to the films screened this year, the following films were screened this year: Iron Man; The New World; A River Runs Through It; Dead Man Walking; Harvey Milk; Zora Neale Hurston; Last Exit to Brooklyn; The Impressionists: Degas; Life is Beautiful; 709 racer; Tom Ryan original watercolors.

In addition to the Black Maria Film and Video Festival, the Film/Video Festival screened the following films which were screened this year:

- In 2009, 3,688 patrons visited, during 1,288 open hours, using 5,334 items.
- Hidden Reference Collection added 709 books & publications.
- Tom Ryan original watercolours.
- David Casey's books & papers on Irish families & local history.
