The scrapbook is 14 ½ inches high and 10 inches wide. The cardboard covers are red, and the front says "Scrap Album" in gold letters. There is a postcard-sized picture glued to the cover showing a sailing ship surrounded by small boats. There are 22 pages of black construction paper, covered with newspaper clippings.

There are 199 named individuals shown in the scrapbook, several of whom appear more than once. There are also a few pictures without names. Most of the "Doing His Bit" clippings include the hometown and the names of parents or next of kin.

In the table below "False" means there is only one clipping about this soldier. "True" means more than one clipping.
